SHERMAN LAW ACTIONS HINGE ON DECISIONS

Attorney General Awaits Supreme Court Rulings in Antitrust Cases.

The Attorney General and his assist-ants are looking forward to the decisions of the Supreme Court in two or three of the Supreme Court in two or three important anti-trust cases as the guide for future efforts to execute the Sherman anti-trust law. These opinions are expected before the beginning of the new year. The two most important are the Harvester and the Steel trust cases, both of which will be argued before the court early in the term beginning October 13.

The Steel trust case decided against the government in the Federal Court for the District of New Jersey will be appealed and a motion made to advance and set it for argument before the first of the year. The Harvester trust case. in which the government won in the Federal Court for the District of Minne-Federal Court for the District of Minnesota, but by a divided court, two to one, has been ordered reargued by the Supreme Court, and will be heard probably about the same time as the Steel trust case, and the two opinions will come down about the same time.
